

My Baby's Daddy Chapter 1131-1135

Chapter 1131 – “Come on, it’s nothing scary,” Ruka whispered to herself, patting her chest while trying hard to keep calm by thinking about things that would give her courage—the incident last night where Ren had kissed her, for instance. As she recalled the incident, her cheeks flushed scarlet amid the darkness. Why do I have to think about this, of all things? Still, I couldn’t get the kiss last night out of my mind. And besides, that was my first kiss, okay? Wait, I gave him my first kiss in the car before that, so it’s considered my second kiss when he kissed me last night.

At this moment, several employees were clocking out and chatting at the translation department’s entrance. Suddenly, a black sedan came to a screeching halt in front of them, after which a respectable figure with a steady presence stepped out of the car.

At once, the employees were stunned for a few seconds. They couldn’t believe they were seeing the vice president at this very moment. Is he here for something important? It’s got to be something really important that requires him to come in person at such a time!

Elijah was more familiar with the place than the others were, so he swiftly led Ren in the direction of the library. “Mr. Husson, the old library is relocated here. It’s a place to store documents, so nobody usually comes here.”

Walking at a rapid pace, Ren was clearly worried about the girl who was trapped inside. He and Elijah were the only ones walking along the corridor since nobody else was coming

Having gotten tired of standing, Ruka sat in the chair next to the door, waiting. When she suddenly heard the sound of footsteps, she was inwardly delighted. Has Mr. Ren arrived? Or has he sent somebody here?

“Miss Singed, are you inside?” Elijah asked.

“Yes, I am,” Ruka answered.

“Mr. Husson, please stay with Miss Singed for a moment. I have to get someone to unlock the door,” Elijah added before striding off.

There was only a steel door between Ruka and the man outside. Even though it was dark, she could sense Ren’s fervent gaze upon her. “Sorry for bothering you again,” she apologized consciously.

“I like it when you bother me,” the man replied in a deep and husky voice.

A flush rose to Ruka’s cheeks, and she was speechless. “I didn’t want to trouble you, but I really have no one else to turn to,” she explained hastily.

Chapter 1132 – The man let out a grumpy snort. “Are you so desperate to have nothing to do with me?” Ruka was just about to say something in reply when she sensed something slippery moving past her shoes. “Aaaah!” she cried and jumped with fright. “What happened?” the man outside asked hurriedly.

“Something just moved past my feet. I don’t know if it’s a snake or a rat!” Ruka’s voice was trembling. She felt that it was a snake. There were branches outside, so it wasn’t impossible for a snake to crawl inside through the window. “Hiss...” She suddenly cried out in pain. As it turned out, she bumped her head against something while backing away.

Just then, the voice of the man outside the door hardened. “Stand aside.”

Before Ruka could realize what was happening, she saw the man outside kicking at the door. She hurriedly stepped aside. All she could hear was the sound of several swift, steady kicks. Soon after that, the old steel door loosened before falling off the wall with a loud bang.

Before she could recover from the shock, she was clasped to a warm chest in faint light by a sturdy arm. When the refreshing and sweet smell of male hormones assailed her nostrils, her mind went completely blank; all she could hear was the sound of her panting slightly and her heartbeat.

She felt the man’s large hand caress the back of her head in the darkness affectionately, which gave her a sense of security. Thanks to the darkness, she enjoyed his embrace even more naturally, though she was still a little frightened with her tiny hand clutching his suit jacket. It wasn’t just because of the door that he had kicked down, but also because of the feeling of being clasped in his arms in the darkness at this very moment. It felt like embracing a hidden romance that broke the taboo and couldn’t be made public.

Chapter 1133 – She looked up in the darkness, only to bump her nose against his coincidentally. The instant their breath mingled, she went stiff all over. Just then, she sensed his breath approaching... He was grabbing the back of her head tenderly and yet domineeringly, as if to give her strong support or to stop her from avoiding what he was going to do. Ruka’s brain stopped functioning until the pair of slightly cold, thin lips met hers in the darkness.

She felt as though some fireworks had exploded in her head, blowing her reason away so that only her senses were working as she was enveloped by the enchanting smell of hormones. Perhaps because she enjoyed it or because this was too much for her, she let out a kittenish moan, upon which the man let out a chuckle in the darkness.

Just then, Elijah’s voice sounded outside. “Mr. Husson... Mr. Husson, are you alright?!” As it turned out, he heard the sound of the door falling down from afar while looking for someone to unlock it. Therefore, he hurriedly turned back without borrowing the key, fearing that anything dangerous might have happened to Ren.

When Ruka heard his voice, she instantly stopped clutching the front of Ren’s shirt and pushed him instead.

Only then did the man let go of her. His breathing was heavy in the darkness, and his warm breath brought color to her cheeks as it brushed against her face. If the lights were on, it’d be obvious that she blushed scarlet.

Elijah quickly rushed in, only to be dumbfounded when he saw what was going on inside by the faint light. Not only was Ren alright, but he had a young lady’s slim figure hidden in his arms.

No amount of darkness could stop Ren from looking daggers at Elijah. In an instant, Elijah felt a chill run down his spine as if he'd be assassinated in the next second. "Mr. Husson, I'll get someone to come over and... repair the door." He made up an excuse, wanting to leave as soon as possible.

"Don't bother. Let's go back!" Ren said before taking the lady beside him out of the library.

Ruka lowered her head in a seemingly obedient manner. However, when the couple entered the brightly lit corridor, she quickly pulled her hand out of the man's grasp, saying to him, "I gotta go first." She dared not even address him, fearing that the others might hear it.

Burying one hand in his pocket, the tall and handsome man walked gracefully like a lion king at leisure. He looked at the lady who was fleeing back to the office with a hint of possessiveness in his deep, fathomless eyes.

Chapter 1134 – Elijah suggested, "Sir, should we get into the car and wait for Miss Singed first?" After all, it was improper to be seen getting too close to Ruka on such an occasion. Ren nodded slightly while walking toward the car. At the same time, he ordered, "Go find out who locked the door to the library." Elijah was involuntarily startled. "Sir, do you think the door to the library was locked on purpose?"

Ren nodded. Not only had the door been locked, but the person who locked the door even turned off the power supply. Obviously, the person had done so to scare Ruka. Ren wouldn't allow such a vicious person to exist around her, so he had to get rid of them.

Elijah immediately nodded. "Okay, I'll look into it right away." When Ren reached his car, his bodyguard had opened the car door for him. However, instead of leaving, his motorcade stayed outside the entrance to wait for Ruka.

Ruka returned to her office while biting her red lips gently as her beautiful eyes misted over. Like a frightened little fawn, she was at a loss for what to do. At the same time, though, her cheeks were red as though she had applied blush to them.

Am I crazy? How could I kiss him like that in the library? Is this reasonable or even legal? She closed her eyes while covering her face with both hands. She felt like crying. She couldn't help feeling that it was reasonable for her to kiss any other man but not Ren.

At this moment, it was as though she could still sense the man's domineering breath, his tight embrace, and his strength as he tenderly stroked the back of her head with his large hand.

The warmth of his fingertips and his intoxicating breath were still lingering in her mind, making her mouth feel dry.

She picked up a glass of water and hurriedly drank a few gulps from it. To her embarrassment, however, she found that just the thought of these things alone sent a tingling sensation throughout her body.

This is enough! How can I have feelings for him? I've loved Jethro secretly for three years, but that's no match for the two days I spent with Ren and the two kisses he gave me? What is going on? This feels like disrespect for the three years I spent loving someone in secret! How could I be so unfaithful as to fall for another man as soon as I get disappointed in love? Wake up, Ruka! In any case, I can't have anything like that to do with Ren.

Our identities alone won't allow us to do that. I grew up by Scarlet's side. She's like an adoptive mother to me, so how could I get romantically entangled with her younger brother?

Chapter 1135 – After patting her head, she picked up her bag and decided to go home. She strode out of the entrance and was just about to call Rita when she saw a black sedan parked beside the entrance. She had a vague feeling that the car seemed to be Ren's. Just as she was guessing, the back seat car window rolled down slightly. The passenger's face couldn't be seen clearly in the dim light, but Ruka could sense his silent and yet powerful presence. It was Ren indeed.

Just then, the bodyguard came forward and said to her, "Miss Singed, Mr. Husson would like you to get into the car."

Ruka waved her hands. "Thanks, but it's not necessary. I'll hail a cab home myself."

The bodyguard seemed to be in a tight spot. "In that case, Miss Singed, please get into the car and tell Mr. Husson about it."

Ruka hurriedly directed her gaze toward the figure inside the car. Having no other choice, she took a deep breath and went over to the car window.

The man looked up; his face looked breathtakingly and stunningly handsome as the light shone on him. "Get in the car," he said in a deep voice.

Not daring to look him in the eye, Ruka lowered her head and replied, "I'm staying at my friend's place."

The man frowned. "Your belongings have been sent to my place."

Ruka looked up at him in surprise. "Huh? Why would my stuff be sent to your place?!"

Ren squinted at her. "Is it bad to stay at my place? Do you really have to trouble your friend?"

Obviously, it was even better to trouble the man than to trouble her friend. However, in her opinion, she'd rather sleep on the streets than trouble him. "My friend and I are really close. She'd welcome me to stay at her place," she replied while pursing her lips.

"The matter's decided. You'll be staying at my place from now on," the man said. With that, he opened the car door, stepped out of the car, and personally signaled her to get into the car with an inviting gesture.

Startled, Ruka looked at him while feeling extremely flattered. He's oozing gentleness from every pore, but why do I still sense a dominating aura?